

Manuscript from the Judaica Collection

An arcade of three scalloped and pointed arches that appears above the text of a Ketubah (a Jewish marriage contract). The ketubah is from Herat, Afghanistan, 19th or early 20th centuries. The text in the center arch is from the Book of Isaiah, chapter 61:10, which discusses the joy and beauty of a bride and groom. From the Yale Library Judaica collection.

Related Links: Judaica Collection, Yale Library [1]

Judaic Studies Reading Room in Sterling Memorial Library [2]

Sub-section: Judaica Collection [3]

Source URL: <https://web.library.yale.edu/billboard/manuscript-judaica-collection>

Links

[1] <http://www.library.yale.edu/judaica/> [2] <http://www.library.yale.edu/judaica/site/collection/readingroom.php> [3]

<https://web.library.yale.edu/sub-section/judaica-collection>