LCPS 2.8.6.6. important practice in such situations.

Here are some examples of some of the most commonly occurring situations.

1st example: Supply a date of publication that corresponds to the copyright date, in square brackets, if it seems reasonable to assume that date is a likely publication date (If an item lacking a publication date contains only a copyright date).

Title page verso:	Copyright ©2009
Preface signed:	June 2009
Date of publication:	not given
Transcription:	264 #1 ‡a ... ‡b ... ‡c [2009]
008/06:	s
008/07-10:	2009
008/11-14:	####

2nd example: If the copyright date is for the year following the year in which the publication is received, supply a date of publication that corresponds to the year of copyright (if an item lacking a publication date contains only a copyright date).

Title page verso:	©2009
Item received in:	2008
Date of publication:	not given
Transcription:	264 #1 ‡a ... ‡b ... ‡c [2009]
optionally	264 #4 ‡c ©2009

1st example. If an item lacking a publication date contains a copyright date and a date of manufacture and the year is the same for both, supply a date of publication that corresponds to that date, in square brackets, if it seems reasonable to assume that date is a likely publication date.

Title page verso:	©1980//1980 printing
Date of publication:	not given
Transcription:	264 #1 ‡a ... ‡b ... ‡c [1980]
008/06:	s
008/07-10:	1980
008/11-14:	####

2nd example: If an item lacking a publication date contains a copyright date and a date of manufacture and the years differ, supply a date of publication that corresponds to the copyright date, in square brackets, if it seems reasonable to assume that date is a likely publication date. A manufacture date may also be recorded as part of a manufacture statement if determined useful by the cataloger.
