Relationship designators between a resource and persons, families, and corporate bodies associated with the resource (RDA Appendix I)

Note: this page was created with music cataloging in mind.

Consult RDA Appendix I for a complete list of relationship designators.

See also PCC's Training Manual for Applying Relationship Designators in Bibliographic Records [3]
See also Relationship designators between works, expressions, manifestations, and items (RDA Appendix J) [4]

A relationship designator indicates the nature of the relationship between entities represented by authorized access points, descriptions, and/or identifiers.

(I.1) General guidelines on using relationship designators used to specify the relationship between a resource and a person, family, or corporate body associated with that resource:
° If the relationship element is considered sufficient for the purposes of the agency creating the data, do not use a relationship designator to indicate the specific nature of the relationship.
° Use relationship designators at the level of specificity that is considered appropriate for the purposes of the agency creating the data.

PCC guidelines [5]:
° PCC highly encourages including relationship designators for all access points whenever it is clear what the relationship is.
° It is recommended that PCC catalogers use relationship designators from the RDA appendices.
° Include a relationship designator for all creators, whether they are coded in the 1XX or 7XX field, even if the MARC field definition already implies a relationship.
° Include a relationship designator, even if it repeats a term used as a qualifier to the name.
° If the nature of the relationship cannot be ascertained even at a general level, do not assign a relationship designator.
° Prefer a specific term to a general one if it is easily determined. For example, use librettist rather than author for the creator of a libretto.
° Apply relationship designators in accordance with their definitions. For example, note the difference between artist and illustrator.
° If more than one relationship designator is appropriate because the same entity has multiple roles, preferably use repeating ‡e (or ‡j for MARC X11 fields).
   » If necessary, multiple headings may be used instead.
° The relationship designators in RDA Appendix I may be applied to families and corporate bodies as well as to individuals

The LC-PCC PS for I.1 links to a PCC training manual that says ‡e is always preceded by a comma unless the preceding field is an open date, e.g.:
| [Name], ‡e composer.
| [Name], ‡d 1953- ‡e composer.
| [Name], ‡d 1953- ‡e composer, ‡e arranger of music.
| [Name], ‡c (Composer), ‡e composer, ‡e lyricist.

Appendix I relationship designators should not be used in:
° a name/title access point tagged MARC 700-711 or 800-811
° a name/title linking field tagged MARC 76X-78X.
