

Using Facets

Facets

Quicksearch provides facets as a way to get to specific material. Understanding facets and how they work will help you get the most functionality out of Quicksearch. Facets are categories of results and are listed under Refine on the left side of results. Individual facet values are the metadata in records.

Catalog Facet Categories

- Item Status: Item in place (on the shelf); Item not in place (unavailable, checked out); Holding has no items (mostly books in the Beinecke); Some available (multi-volume works)
- Format (books, journals, microforms, etc.)
- Publication Date
- Author/Creator
- Recently Added: dates of new records added between the past month and the past year
- Library: Physical location of the item within the Yale Library system, or Online for digital material.
- Language
- Subject: Subject headings for the topic covered by the material.
- Subject (Region): Subject headings for the area of the world covered in the material.
- Subject (Era): Subject headings for the time period covered in the material.

Hint: When you expand a facet (click on the >) only a subset of the most common results will display. To see all facet values select more at the bottom of the list.

Online Results: Applying and Excluding

The Show Online Results Only button may be toggled on and off.

To exclude online results, click Show Online Results Only, move your cursor up to the green circle above and click on the circle or the word Online. Online results will now be excluded from your results.

Combine Facets

You may choose one or multiple facets by clicking on a value. When you select multiple values within a category, the search is very restrictive (an AND). After selecting more than one facet value within format, for example, you will see that those values are listed at the top of the search with the term All Of displayed before them. The image below shows a search for Human Rights limited to both of the facet values Books and Online.
