??CONTENTS. Overview -- Related Documents.

Overview: Serials and Multiparts

For serials and multipart monographs, the standard bound-with procedure (see Bound-with Procedures 2005 [1]) results in a degradation of information in the Orbis OPAC. The standard procedure requires use of a shared MFHD. While the shared MFHD does not cause display ambiguities for single part monographs, there is no way to clearly display multi-volume holdings when part monograph or serial is bound with other bibliographic entities. The previous workaround required the cataloger to create 2 MFHDs for the same title, one for the volumes that were not bound with items representing other titles, and a second MFHD to represent the volumes bound with items represented by separate bibliographic records. Experience indicates that the display was too ambiguous even for experienced users to comprehend, and devising explanatory notes that worked in the online environment was challenging, say the least.

With the expanded functionality of Voyager 5.0, use of 856 in the MFHD was made available for the OPAC. Functionality was expanded further in 2011 with the introduction of "handles" in 2011 for New Orbis. YUL policies on the use of field 856 are documented in Orbis Records Using Handles [2]. Specific procedures for serials and multipart volumes bound with other serials, multiparts, or part monographs follow.

New procedure:

If a part or issue of a multipart or serial has been bound with other titles, use this procedure.

On the host record, enter a bound with note in MFHD 852 \pm z. Since the procedure does not generally make use of a shared MFHD, host/guest designation is somewhat arbitrary. The host will generally be the first title in the physical volume, but under some circumstances it might be more useful to designate another title as the host.

On each guest record, add to the MFHD as the last variable field:

856 42 \pm u <http://hdl.handle.net/10079/bibid/<bibid> [3] of host record > \pm z Click here for circulation status or to request <vol. no. of the host record> of: "<Title of host record>"

The \pm z note may need to be adjusted depending on the nature of the resources bound together in the physical item.

To reduce the chance of transcription errors, copy and paste the handle from the OPAC record of the host.

Transfers. Because the revised procedure does not make use of a shared MFHD, keep in mind that any location change on the host record will not change the location on the guest records automatically.

EXAMPLE 1 (Serial title change: initial issues of later title b/w last issues of earlier title)

In this example, the serial Bulletin of the British Library of Political Science changed title to Bulletin of the British Library of Political and Economic Science. A separate record was created for the later title, but some of the issues of the earlier title were bound with issues of the later title. The bibliographic ID number for the Bulletin of the British Library of Political Science is 2423080; the earlier title will serve as the host record. The later title, Bulletin of the British Library of Political and Economic science, bib id 2423079, will serve as the guest record.

Because this is a linear title change, the call number will be the same in the MFHDs of both the earlier and later titles.

Bound-With Procedures: Serials & Multiparts: Example 2

EXAMPLE 2 (Serial title change: all issues of later title b/w last issues of earlier title)

In this example, the serial Athenaeum (London, England : 1828) changed title to Athenaeum and literary chronicle and Economic Science. A separate record was created for the later title, but in this case all of the issues of the later title were bound with the last issues of the earlier title. The bibliographic ID number for the Athenaeum (London, England : 1828) is 2410420; the earlier title will serve as the host record. The later title, Athenaeum and literary chronicle, bib id 2346024, will serve as the guest record.

Because this is a linear title change, the call number will be the same in the MFHDs of both the earlier and later titles.

Bound-With Procedures: Serials & Multiparts: Example 4

Example 4 (Three Monographs Bound-with Two Serials)

In this example, three single part monographs have been bound together with volumes of two different serials. There are also multiple copies of some of the titles in other locations. The cataloger applied the standard bound-with procedure (shared MFHD) with the single part monographs. The 856 MFHD procedure was used for the two serial titles. The public notes vary to some extent from the default procedures due to the complexity of the mixture of single part monographs with serial volumes.
