

New Haven Students Visit the Lab

April 4, 2016

The Digital Humanities Lab welcomed junior high and high school students from around the New Haven area for a workshop on DH. Following a tour of the lab and a discussion of old and new media, students learned about the Photogrammar [1] project and participated in a scavenger hunt to find images of American life during the Great Depression and World War II.

The workshop was led by Catherine DeRose (Outreach Manager for the DHLab) and Lauren Tilton (PhD Candidate in American Studies).

External link: <http://web.library.yale.edu/dhlab/highschoolvisit> [2]

Source URL: <https://web.library.yale.edu/dhlab/highschoolvisit>

Links

[1] <http://photogrammar.yale.edu/> [2] <http://web.library.yale.edu/dhlab/highschoolvisit>