The Financial Times: A campus-wide subscription starts today!

Yale University now has a subscription to the Financial Times online (FT.com [1]), a British, English-language daily newspaper featuring international business & economic news. Current faculty, students and staff can sign up for unlimited access to FT.com articles and tools. To sign up on-campus: go to FT.com [1] and follow the instructions to sign up. To sign up off-campus: go to the Yale University registration page: <https://registration.ft.com/corporate/signup/ndCCCEtpGHj3J> [2]. You must use your yale.edu email address as your login.

Tools and Mobile Apps: Newlines is a tool that allows students and professors to interact regarding important topics and news of the day on FT.com [1]. FT apps are available for iPads, iPhones, Androids, at no additional cost at: apps.ft.com.

Please contact Gwyneth.Crowley@Yale.edu [3] for further details.

For technical assistance, email education.support@ft.com [4] or call (877) 886-5745. If you have a paid FT.com [1] subscription, and would like to switch to the university's subscription, contact help@ft.com [5] to be reimbursed for the remainder of your subscription. For questions about FT.com [1] content or tools, including Newlines, please email b2bproductconsultants@ft.com [6].

Note: In adherence to Yale's contract, each account is to be used by a single individual. Do not share logins. Emailing of articles or otherwise sharing of content from FT.com [1] is limited.
