Research Impact: Supporting Scholars, Departments, and Collaborators in their Quest for Better Metrics

Wednesday, January 29, 2014 2:00 PM
Sterling Memorial Library (SML), International Room
120 High St., New Haven, CT 06511 S

peakers: Jan Glover, Lei Wang, and Kayleigh Bohémier

During the summer, Jan Glover, Lei Wang and Kayleigh Bohémier attended a two-day workshop on the Becker Model, a methodology for examining scholarly impact and creating research stories. During this hour-long SCOPA forum, they will share takeaways from this workshop and describe how the Becker Model and other ways of assessing scholarly impact can be applied at Yale to support our research communities.

External link: http://www.library.yale.edu/librarynews/2014/01/research_impact_supporting_sch.h... [1]

Source URL:https://web.library.yale.edu/news/2014/01/research-impact-supporting-scholars-departments-and?page=1

Links
[1] http://www.library.yale.edu/librarynews/2014/01/research_impact_supporting_sch.html