

Life Transitions Among the Toba/Qom of Argentina

April 20, 2015

Wednesday, April 22, 2015 3:00pm at the Center for Science and Social Science Information (CSSSI), 219 Prospect Street

In conjunction with the new CSSSI media exhibit "Anthropology at Yale", Professor Claudia Valeggia will share aspects of her current research on the biological and cultural correlates of life transitions among the indigenous Toba/Qom people of northern Argentina. She is the Director of the Chaco Area Reproductive Ecology Program and the Co-director of the Reproductive Ecology Laboratory. A reception will immediately follow her talk and all are welcome!
