

Yale Young Global Scholars take classes with librarians and archivists

July 7, 2015

Last week, several Yale librarians and archivists taught classes as part of the Yale Young Global Scholars Program [1]. The program is designed for outstanding high school students to have an amazing summer experience studying in beautiful campus lecture halls and classrooms, living in Yale's historic residential colleges, eating in award-winning dining halls, meeting a talented community of fellow students, and engaging with world-renowned resources and staff. See photos of some of the sessions here. [2]
