

March 2: "The Ten Thousand Rooms Project" by Prof. Mick Hunter & Prof. Tina Lu

February 23, 2017

The Ten Thousand Rooms Project

Speakers: Prof. Mick Hunter & Prof. Tina Lu

Time: 4:00 pm-5:00 pm, Thursday March 2

Place: Room L01 A & B, Bass Library

March 2: "The Ten Thousand Rooms Project" by Prof. Mick Hunter & Prof. Tina Lu

Published on Yale University Library (<https://web.library.yale.edu>)

Professor Mick Hunter and Professor Tina Lu (East Asian Languages & Literatures) will introduce the Ten Thousand Rooms Project, a collaborative workspace for the study of pre-modern Chinese texts that is supported by Yale University and the Mellon Foundation. Through the platform, users can upload images of the materials they wish to work on, define scholarly projects around those materials, invite others to join their projects, and collaboratively produce transcriptions, translations, and commentaries. As a shared workspace, a publication venue for core philological work, a textual repository, and a pedagogical tool, the Ten Thousand Rooms platform has any number of uses for students, teachers, researchers, and librarians.

All are welcome. Sponsored by the East Asia Library.

External link: <https://web.library.yale.edu/news/2017/02/march-2-ten-thousand-rooms-project-pro...> [1]

Source

URL: <https://web.library.yale.edu/news/2017/02/march-2-ten-thousand-rooms-project-prof-mick-hunter-prof-tina?page=1>

Links

[1] <https://web.library.yale.edu/news/2017/02/march-2-ten-thousand-rooms-project-prof-mick-hunter-prof-tina>