CT GIS Day at Yale

November 7, 2017
On November 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m, explore mapping innovations with the Connecticut and Yale GIS communities! This day-long celebration–part of international GIS Day, which showcases applications of geographic information systems (GIS) technology worldwide–includes panel discussions, presentations, workshops, networking opportunities, and a GIS Day Cake Reception.

Events include a keynote by Jennifer Marlon (Yale Program on Climate Change), a presentation on crisis mapping in Somalia by representatives of Abaaraha, a variety of workshops and breakout sessions that bring together research and practice, and a “mappy hour” at Mory’s. The complete schedule is available at http://csssi.yale.edu/gisday2017. [1]

CT GIS Day at Yale is organized by Yale University Library, Yale School of Forestry and Environmental Studies, and the Connecticut GIS Network.
