The Long Night Against Procrastination is a time when the library offers students a quiet, distraction-free study space for the night. We ask that they leave their phones at the door when they arrive, and then roughly every 1 ½ hours there is a 10-minute break with snacks and some (Library approved) YouTube videos. After that, students can refocus for another 1.5 hours until another break time with snacks, YouTube, etc. Registration is required, and the event will fill up!
