

Celebrating Yale History in Manuscripts and Archives

March 23, 2018

Immerse yourself in Yale's more than 300-year history through this exhibit of documents and artifacts from Yale University Library's Manuscript and Archives Department. The exhibit is organized around themes of student life, places and programs, Yale and the world, and Yale events. The extensive holdings of Manuscripts and Archives encompass the University's archives, Yale publications, and many other collections, with items ranging from the minutes of a 1701 meeting of seven founding ministers of the Collegiate School (renamed Yale College in 1718) to contemporary images, email files, and other "born-digital" materials.

The new exhibit opens in the Memorabilia Room at the Sterling Memorial Library on Monday, June 11- October 5.
