

Arts Library Research Guides

The screenshot shows the 'Art History Research at Yale: Home' page. At the top is a dark blue header with 'Yale University Library' and a breadcrumb trail: 'Yale University Library > Yale University Library Research Guides > Arts > Art History Research at Yale > Home'. Below the header is a search bar with the text 'Search this Guide' and a 'Search' button. A navigation bar contains links: 'Home', 'How to Research Art', 'How to Find Art Resources', 'How to Cite Your Sources', 'Copyright and Fair Use', and 'Collecting and Provenance Research'. The main content area is divided into three columns. The left column, titled 'Robert B. Haas Arts Library', features a photo of the library interior and text describing its location and collection. The middle column, titled 'Welcome to Art History at the Haas Arts Library!', contains a welcome message, a 'Don't forget' note about digital resource access, and a 'Top Resources' list with links to 'Art and Architecture Source', 'International Bibliography of Art', 'ARTbibliographies Modern', 'Oxford Art Online', 'Artstor Digital Library', and 'Art & Architecture ePortal (A&AePortal)'. The right column, titled 'Arts Librarian', features a photo of Lindsay King, an 'Email Me' button, and contact information for the Associate Director for Access and Research Services.

Yale's Arts Library, linking Rudolph Hall and the Loria Center at 180 and 190 York Street, serves as the primary collection for the study of art, architecture, and drama at Yale. The Arts Library contains approximately 150,000 onsite volumes including important reference works, monographs, exhibition catalogs, and print periodicals, as well as digital resources, including online

Welcome to Art History at the Haas Arts Library!

This guide will help you explore the many art resources available to you at Yale. Use the tabs above to navigate through this guide for tips on improving your research.

Don't forget: Many of our digital resources can only be accessed by subscription, which means they are limited to current Yale students, faculty and staff. If you are off-campus, you will need to connect using the VPN--see Off-Campus Access--or come to the Arts Library in person, and we'll be happy to help you.
