This week the University Archives has updated the undergraduate publications [1] section of the Yale Publications [2] research guide to include a new website called Virtual Bookshelf of Undergraduate Publications [3]. The Virtual Bookshelf is the brainchild of Jarron Long, Class of 2023 (Grace Hopper College) and contains links and information on dozens of current undergraduate publications featuring a wide variety of topics and interests. Jarron tackled this project single-handed, mostly over the 2020 holiday break, and aims to promote and celebrate the hard work and dedication that goes into the production of these important publications. Jarron’s admitted favorites are the Yale Epicurean [4] because, who doesn’t love food(!) and the Turnaround [5], which is the official magazine of the Yale Undergraduate Jazz Collective.

So take a moment and visit this amazing new site to learn more about the multitude of journals, ‘zines and publications the Yale undergraduate community is hard at work creating!
